

Share learnings from the mock crit session

Now that you've experienced a design critique session in action, consider the following questions:

What is one thing you learned?

What is one thing you still have questions about?

Based on everything you've learned about design critique sessions so far, was there anything you found surprising?