

1.

Now that you've learned how bias can affect usability study interviews, think about your own interview techniques and answer the following questions:

What are some steps you can take to increase awareness of your personal biases?

What can you do to reduce biases when you conduct interviews for a usability study?