

Share portfolio case studies with website designs

In this course, you learned that sharing case studies and building a strong online portfolio. These are essential parts of developing your UX design career. Now, let's explore how others share their work. Complete the following in your response:

Research web design portfolios shared by designers. Find a relevant example and share with your peers.

Explain one interesting thing you noticed about their work, as well as something you would like to imitate in your own portfolio.