

≡ Item Navigation

Learn more about creating digital wireframes

You've just created paper wireframes for your dedicated mobile app. Now, it's time to transition those wireframes into a digital design tool.

For this course, you can choose to create digital designs in either Figma or Adobe XD. Remember, you learned how to use Figma during Courses 3 and 5 of the certificate program when you designed a mobile app, and you learned how to use Adobe XD during Course 6 of the certificate program when you designed a responsive website. The choice of which tool to use for this final project is truly yours!

To get started, you can review content from earlier in the certificate program. If you're designing in Figma, review this video about creating digital wireframes in Figma  with the course instructor, Karen, or this video about creating digital wireframes  with information from Figma. Or, if you're designing in Adobe XD, review this video about creating digital wireframes in Adobe XD  or this reading with links to learn more from Adobe XD .

Mark as completed

Like

Dislike

Report an issue

