Congratulations on completing Course 1 of the Google UX Design Certificate!

For all learners who have completed this course, Adobe offers a 9-month complimentary “starter plan,” which gives you access to the Adobe XD design software platform, compatible with Mac or Windows, and will allow you to complete the assignments in the remainder of this certificate program.

Upon successful completion of this foundational course, you will receive an email from Coursera with the subject line "Time to redeem your reward." If you click on the link provided in that email, you will be directed to a Coursera page which will prompt you to redeem your reward on the Adobe XD website.

Please save this email, as it will be needed in an upcoming course.

If you completed the first course and haven't received your "Time to redeem your reward" email message, contact Coursera Support ↗.

To make continuing with the certificate program easy, here is a link to Course 2:

Start the UX Design Process: Empathize, Define, Ideate ↗. You may need to enroll in the next course, if you have not already.

In Course 2, you will complete the first steps of the design process for a project that you'll be able to include in your professional portfolio. You will learn how to:

- Empathize with users and understand their pain points
- Define user needs using problem statements
- Come up with lots of ideas for solutions to those user problems

Keep up the great work!
