Share learnings from your usability study

You've completed a ton of work so far! After analyzing and synthesizing the results of your usability study, reflect on what you've learned from it. Consider the following questions in the discussion forum:
Was there anything that surprised you?

Was there anything you found that improved your designs?