Design sprint experience

Take a moment to respond to these questions about design sprints and consider your personal experiences:

Have you participated in a design sprint or a similar work process before? If so, what was your experience like?

Were there positive outcomes of the design sprint, or ways the process could have been improved?

If you haven't participated in a similar work process, what are your thoughts on the design sprint process outlined in this course?

Are there any phases or aspects of design sprints that seem difficult to understand or complete?