        key elements of a storyboard include scene, character, and narrative.

   ☑ Character

      ⊘ Correct
        The user in a storyboard is the character. Other key elements of a storyboard include plot, scene, and narrative.

   ☑ Scene

      ⊘ Correct
        The scene in a storyboard helps designers imagine the user's environment.
        Other key elements of a storyboard include plot, character, and narrative.

   ☐ Theme

   ☑ Narrative

      ⊘ Correct
        The storyboard's narrative describes the user's problem and how the design will solve the problem. Other key elements of a storyboard include plot, scene, and character.

2. Which of the following scenarios would be most appropriate to use a big picture   1 / 1 point storyboard?

   ⦿ You start the design process for a new grocery delivery app. You want to pitch some ideas to the team about how the user could use it and benefit from it.
   ◯ You create a tool that connects auto mechanics with local auto parts stores to check product availability in real-time. You want to test the app for possible connection issues.
   ◯ You create a new homepage for a news site. You need to show the details of the product and what happens during each step of the user experience.

      ⊘ Correct
        This scenario would use a big picture storyboard because you're focusing on how people will use the product throughout their day, and why that product will be useful.
