2 out of 8 participants found it difficult to navigate around and find recipes.

6 out of 8 participants found the app useful due to healthy recipes and instructions.

3 out of 8 participants had trouble with the different tabs, buttons and navigation of the app / website.

5 out of 8 participants did not struggle with the different interactions in the flow

4 out of 8 participants wanted more images that showcased the recipes.

3 out of 8 participants meant that the images showcasing the dishes were good.

7 out of 8 participants felt that the flow of the app / website worked well.

3 out of 8 participants felt that the flow of the app was clunky and needed more work.

5 out of 8 participants meant that the steps and instructions for cooking the dishes were detailed and precise.

3 out of 8 participants wanted the instructions to be more detailed and informed regards to the cooking of the dishes.

5 out of 8 participants meant that dishes should be separated into tabs based on types instead of scrolling through them all.

1 out of 8 participants meant that scrolling through the dishes were alright and tabs weren't needed to separate them.

6 out of 8 participants enjoyed the experience of going through the app / website.

2 out of 8 participants did not enjoy the experience of going through the app / website.

Participant A - Feels that there is a broad variety of food recipes.

Participant B - Wish that there were more images of the food recipe

Participant C - Finds the instructions for cooking are clear and concise.

Participant D - Finds it frustrating to scroll through multiple types of dishes.

Participant A - Feel that there could be an easier way to find specific food.

Participant B - Does not think that 1 image is enough for the recipe.

Participant C - Finds the instructions for cooking helpful.

Participant D - Finds it frustrating that there are no tabs for dishes.